

Lesson 12

Human Behavior

---

All the words in this lesson may be associated with human behavior.

- assert V. to declare or express forcefully (Joli's confidence allowed her to assert herself as a public speaker.)
- beguile V. to fool or trick; to divert attention away from (During the tennis match, Bill was able to beguile his opponent with crafty moves.)
- condone V. to pardon or overlook without criticism (Neither in Africa nor in India did Gandhi condone violent rebellion.)
- connive V. to scheme in a hidden manner; to conspire (In his pursuit of power, he was known to connive with the most unethical sort of people.)
- contemptuous ADJ. scornful (Because Mr. Gecko was contemptuous of everyone but himself, he trusted no one with his secrets.)
- didactic ADJ. designed to teach (One didactic method is to tell a story to illustrate what is being taught.)
- dissuade V. to convince to do something (Mick's father was able to dissuade his son from getting a part-time job after school.)
- flippant ADJ. a saucy, impudent lack of seriousness (Grandpa did not like the salesperson's flippant tone.)
- infallible ADJ. incapable of mistakes or errors (Miss Marple is often correct, but even she is not infallible.)
- ingenuous ADJ. straightforward; honest and sincere (Because of her ingenuous character, Mae was unable to disguise her true feelings.)
- inhibition N. an act of holding back an urge; control in doing something (Her inhibition prevented her from volunteering to give a speech.)
- obfuscate V. to make unclear; to obscure (The jury saw through the witness's attempt to obfuscate his involvement in the crime.)
- obsequious ADJ. overly willing to please (We were shocked when the normally obsequious employee disagreed with the boss.)
- perseverance N. persistence (Through perseverance, Ranata learned to solve the problems in her calculus book.)
- pretense N. an act of make-believe or deception (It was just a pretense; he really did not know the baseball star and could not get tickets for us.)
- querulous ADJ. habitually complaining (A querulous individual is never happy or satisfied with anything.)
- restraint N. the act of maintaining control or holding back (We admired the speaker's restraint when the heckler disrupted his speech.)
- ruthless ADJ. merciless; without compassion (Ruthless criticism of the opening night performance did not seem to faze the actress.)
- taciturn ADJ. silent; a preference for avoiding speech (The artist was taciturn and rarely said more than a few, brief words.)
- vociferous ADJ. calling out loudly (Despite frequent warnings, the vociferous crowd continued to protest the judge's rulings.)
